

Some basic rules for numbering measures:

If a work begins with a partial measure, the first FULL measure is #1,
Do not number first endings. The numbering should continue through the second ending.

It is best to number the score and your part together. Cross-checking between score and part will detect errors.

Occasionally one edition (or score) will have a repeated section written with repeat while another has it written out. Beware.

Measure Numbers by Movement

Compiled by participants and staff of the Chamber Music Conference and Composers' Forum of the East, held at Bennington College.

David Anderson Quintet:

David Webber

Oboe, Clarinet, Violin, Viola, Bass

The printed rehearsal letters in only edition (Bass-Is) are adequate without numbering the part.

Arensky Quartet Opus 35:

Howard Osborn

Violin, Viola, Cello, Bass

I:213; II:279; III:116

Arensky Quartet Opus 35:

Howard Osborn

Violin, Viola, Cello I, Cello II

Bach Trio Sonata Bwv 1039:

Scott Brodie

Flute, Oboe, Bassoon, Harpsichord

I:28; II:113; III:18; IV:142

Barber Summer Music Wind Quintet:

The printed rehearsal letters are adequate without numbering the part.

Bartok #1 String Quartet:

Marc Bastuscheck

I:71; II:367; Introduzione: 33; III:380

In the third movement, do count the single beat general pause bars at measures 265 and 323.

Bartok #2 String Quartet:

Arthur Newmark

II:577; III:141

In movement I, the cello part is in a non-aligned meter at rehearsal number
8. The printed rehearsal letters are adequate without numbering the movement. Note also that in the second movement, rehearsal number 10 should be at bar 109 (it may be wrong in the first violin part.)

Bartok #3 String Quartet:

Don Howarth

Prima:112; Seconda:410; Ricap:70; Coda:121

In the second part, there are two places where one player is in a non-aligned meter. Following the conference convention of counting only common bar lines, bar 18 is 2 measures long in each part; bar 290 is 2 measures long in the viola part and 3 measures long in the other parts; and bar 291 is 4 measures long in the viola part and 5 measures long in the other parts.

Bartok #5 String Quartet: Eve Cohen

Beethoven Opus 127 String Quartet:

I:282; II:126; III:435; IV:299

The second movement has a number of measures containing changes of meter.

Be sure to count the split measures only once.

Beethoven Opus 130 String Quartet:

I:234; II:105; III:88; IV:150; V:66; Finale:507

Many scores contain a repeat of mm. 20 through 33 of the finale which is written out in every known edition of the parts. This results in a 14 bar discrepancy between parts and score. In keeping with conference convention, the 14 bars following measure 33 in the parts should be counted as 20b-33b; numbering continues without incident from measure 34 onward.

Beethoven Opus 131 String Quartet:

I:121; II:198; III:11; IV:286; V:498; VI:28; VII:388

Many scores contain a repeat of mm 178 through 186 of the 4th movement which is written out in every known edition of the parts. This results in a 9 bar discrepancy between parts and score. In contravention of the conference convention, I think that the score should be numbered to match the parts, in this fashion: the first ending should be noted as 186, the second ending as 195, and counting should continue without incident with number 196 at the Adagio, ma non troppo e semplice onward.

Every known edition of the parts contains a repeat of mm. 1 through 33 of the third movement that is written out in the Eulenberg score (and possibly others). This results in a 13 bar discrepancy between the parts and score. Following conference conventions, number the score in the following manner: the 14th through 26th measures should be considered as bars 1b-13b; measure 27, which corresponds in the parts to the measure after the repeat, should be counted as 14.

The International and Schirmer parts and Dover and Eulenberg scores contain a repeat which is written out in the Peters and Henley editions. This occurs in the 4th movement, between 189 and 205. Guessing that Peters and Henley are the more commonly owned editions, we recommend that International, etc, users start numbering with 223 instead of 206 after the repeated section.

In the Henle Edition, and perhaps others, the 2nd movement has a D.C. after bar 260 and a D.S. to the Coda after bar 160 in the string parts, but has this section written out in the piano part.

(Henle also gives incorrect measure numbers for the Coda in the violin part.) By Conference conventions, this movement would be numbered as follows: Scherzo, bars 1-160; transition and Trio, bars 161-260; Da Capo, bars 1-160; Coda, bars 261-300.

Caveat: the Eulenberg score is based on the 1884 first edition. The International Edition parts are based on a 1922 revision by Woess of the 1879 autograph. Eulenberg considers the first edition the more authoritative source. There are many differences between the two versions. Carter Wind Quintet: The parts and score are pre-numbered in the only edition.

Chausson Concerto Opus 21:

Violin, Piano, Violin I, Violin II, Viola, Cello

I:410; II:91; III:180; IV:468

In the 4th movement, at bar 200 the quartet remains in 6/8 while the solo violin goes into 2/4 and the piano goes into 3/2. At this point, the strings will play 2 bars for each bar in the piano. Observing the rule which states that only common bar lines are counted, the strings should count every second bar only for the twelve bars of this section. The measure where the entire ensemble switches to 3/4 is numbered 206, at which point counting proceeds normally for the remainder of the movement.

Chausson Piano Quartet:

Piano, Violin, Viola, Cello

I:469; II:177; III:166; IV:423

You will need your magic pencil to number the 4th movement:

At rehearsal 54, measure 224, the viola goes into 3/2 for 4 bars while the other voices stay in 3/4. The viola counts every bar; the other voices count every second bar for eight bars, through measure 228, and then count every bar to rehearsal 55, measure 232. At rehearsal 55 the violin and cello go into 3/2 for 4 bars, while the viola and piano remain in 3/4. Here the violin and cello count every bar; the viola and piano count every second bar to rehearsal 56, measure 236. From this point on all bar lines are aligned.

I:616; II:145; III:262; IV:701

The third movement is written in two equivalent forms. The versions diverge at measure 155. The following scheme will produce a consistent numbering for the two versions:

Version I] Coda sign at 155--number in the conventional manner.

Version II] First ending at 155.

Number the measures in this first ending and skip the second ending.

Continue at 'piu vivo - 2/4' with measure 167 (skipping first endings).

This section ends with measure 240. Now go back to the second ending you skipped before and start with 241. The total should be 262, as in the other edition.

Hindemith (1943) String Quartet:
 I:54; II:179; III:244; IV:181
 This quartet may be designated either as Hindemith's fifth or sixth String Quartet on recordings and by the publisher, Edition Schott. Use the publication date to identify it when ordering the parts, score or a recording.

Hindemith (1945) String Quartet:
 I:130; II:78; III:234; IV:123
 This quartet may be designated either as Hindemith's sixth or seventh String Quartet on recordings and by the publisher, Edition Schott. Use the publication date to identify it when ordering the parts, score or a recording.

Hindemith Clarinet Quintet: Mike Kong
 Clarinet, Violin I, Violin II, Viola, Cello
 I:66; II:72; III:316; IV:21; V:65
 Note that this piece exists in two versions: the 1923 original and the 1955 revision. Be sure to check the version on your score and part and to use the 1955 version. The best (sometimes only!) way to tell is from the measure counts, which are as above. The totals in the 1923 version are:
 I:74; II:101; III:360; IV:22; V:73

Hindemith Minimax String Quartet: I:37; II:240; III:34; IV:161; V:62;
VI:41

Hindemith Octet:

Violin, Viola I, Viola II, Cello, Bass, Clarinet, Bassoon, Horn

I:280; II:90; III:116; IV:165; V:281

The wind parts and score of Edition Schott are misnumbered in the second movement, starting between bars 70-80 to the end of the movement.

Rehearsal letter F should be at bar 78.

Hindemith Opus 10 String Quartet:

I:179; II:277; III:682

This quartet may be designated either as Hindemith's first or second String Quartet on recordings and by the publisher, Edition Schott. Use the opus number to identify it when ordering the parts, score or a recording.

Hindemith Opus 16 String Quartet:

I:405; II:241; III:787

This quartet may be designated either as Hindemith's second or third String Quartet on recordings and by the publisher, Edition Schott. Use the opus number to identify it when ordering the parts, score or a recording.

Hindemith Opus 32 String Quartet:

I:289; II:80; III:74; IV:197; V:97

This quartet may be designated either as Hindemith's fourth or fifth String Quartet on recordings and by the publisher, Edition Schott. Use the opus number to identify it when ordering the parts, score or a recording.

The first movement has unaligned bar lines between Rehearsal 13 at measure 203 and Rehearsal 16 at measure 242. Measure 206 is 3 bars long for everyone; measure 210 is 2 bars long for everyone; measure 217 is 3 bars long for everyone; measure 218 is 4 bars long for everyone; measure 222 is 4 bars long for everyone; measure 239 is two bars long for everyone; and measure 240 is 5 bars long for the violins and 4 bars long for the viola and cello.

Hindemith Quartet (1938):

Ives #1 String Quartet:

I:115; II:186; III:96; IV:170

In the last movement, starting at bar 147, the measures do not line up across the parts. The common bar lines occur every 4 measures in the Violin I and Viola parts, every 3 measures in the Violin II and Cello parts. Number only the common bar lines for 147--149.

Jacob #1 Wind Quintet:

Jim Whipple

I:50; II:58; III:115; IV:33; V:139; VI:93

Detail for numbering Movement V, Theme and Variations (Emerson Edition).

Theme:1-18; VarI:19-42; VarII:43-68; VarIII:69-89; VarIV:90-114; VarV:115-139. So far, so good, but now the clarinet and oboe parts require a little additional ingenuity in Variation III. In the clarinet part the first 8 bars (of rest) should be numbered 69a-76a; the second 8 bars (not rests) should be numbered 69b-76b. The oboeist should note that his 32 bars of rest consist in the other parts of 2 repeated 8-bar sections, 69-76 and 77-84; the final 5 bars (of cues) should be numbered 85-89.

Jacob Sextet:

Discrepancies among the parts in the marking of repeats make numbering problematic. Fortunately, the rehearsal numbers in known editions seem to be identical and completely adequate. Please let me know if this is not the case, and I will provide careful numbering instructions.

Milhaud #15 String Quartet: I:131; II:105; III:128

Milhaud (1912) String Quartet:

I:171; II:130; III:80; IV:255

This quartet was extensively revised by the composer, with many bars cut. Coaching will be on the revised work. There do exist parts for the original work. In the revised parts, the cuts have been indicated by Durand by printing a fine grid over the excised bars. If your edition does not show the grid marks, you may have the wrong music - ask for help. Do not number

the cut measures in the revised work.

On the other hand, we have not seen a score of the original work. The revised score has the bars truly excised rather than crossed out, and can simply be numbered as it comes.

Schubert Trio D581:

Mike Kong

Violin, Viola, Cello

I:86; II:57; III:66; IV:230

There are two versions of this trio; Schubert revised the piece shortly after he composed it. The measure counts given above are taken from the Baerenreiter New Schubert Edition of the second version of the trio. Many editions, including the Complete Edition that Dover reproduces, are based on the first version, as the parts for the second version were rediscovered long after Schubert died. In the first version, movements I and II are 82 and 56 measures, respectively.

Schumann Opus 41#3 String Quartet:

Charles Hollister

I:226; II:255; III:105; IV:292

Do not count the partial measure at the start of the 'Tempo risoluto' after measure 192 in the second movement. Rather think of it as measure 193-bis. Measure 193 is the first full measure of the 'Tempo risoluto'.

Schumann Piano Quartet:

Morton Raff

Piano, Violin, Viola, Cello

I:355; II:217; III:130; IV:324

Sections of the Scherzo movement which are written with repeats in the string parts have those sections written out in the piano score (at least in Edition Peters.) The following plan will allow everyone to have the same numbers: in that movement the numbers in the piano part should restart at 17 after bar 32, and should restart at 153 after bar 176 in Trio II.

Schumann Piano Quintet:

Arthur Newmark

Piano, Violin I, Violin II, Viola, Cello

I:338; II:193; III:265; IV:427

In the second, third and fourth movements watch out for measures divided across double bars, repeats or changes of key.

Schumann Trio Opus 80:

Piano, Violin, Cello

I:456; II:96; III:198; IV:256

Clara Schumann Piano Trio:

Piano, Violin, Cello
